

Translated by Ali Kuli Kahn and his daughter, Marziah Gail, in New York City, September 1945.

BAHÁ'U'LLÁH "invokes God through" 119 different Names and 41 refrains Healing, Guidance, Protection and Happiness to those who recite it; who cometh upon it, who walketh around the house in which it is.

This very important prayer--carries great power--is very cleansing and effective.

IN THE NAME OF GOD! THE INACCESSIBLE, THE MOST HIGH, THE MOST HOLY, THE MOST GLORIOUS!

Abiding One!

Sanctified Art Thou, O My God!

I ask Thee by Thy Generosity, whereby the doors of bestowal and grace were opened wide, whereby the Temple of Holiness was established on the Throne of eternity; and by Thy mercy, whereby Thou didst summon all created things to the table of Thy Bounty and Gifts, and by Thy face, whereby Thou didst answer in Thine Own Person, on behalf of all in the heavens and earth, at the time of the manifestation of Thy dominion and might and the dawning of the glory of Thy government with Thy word "You"! and by those beauteous and exalted Names, and by these high and noble attributes, and by Thy sublime and lofty mention, and by Thy most pure and spotless beauty, and by Thy light, concealed in the well-hidden pavillions, and by Thy Name, enwrapped in the garment of sorrow, every morn and eve; To protect the bearer of this blessed Tablet, and whoso reciteth it, and whoso cometh upon it, and whoso walketh around the house in which it is, then to relieve thereby every sick and feeble one, and every poor one, from calamity and unpleasant things, every distress and sorrow; then to guide, by it, whosoever desireth to enter upon the paths of Thy guidance and the ways of Thy grace and forgiveness. Verily Thou art the Precious, the Sufficer, the Healer, the Protector, the Bounteous, the Compassionate, the Beneficient, the All-Merciful.
