Portug il. The War in Schleswig. From the Hamburg Bosenhallo-July 26, 2 P. M. The anticipated contest commenced this morning at 3 o'clock, with an attack by the Danes on both wings of the Schleswig-Holstein army. The Danes did not at first succeed in obtaining apy advantage, but in a short time they began to gain ground on the left wing, where they attempted to establish themselves, but were so fir driven back by a gallant charge of the rifles and the infantry, that no further attack was made from this quarter. On the right wing they were so warmly received by the Schleswig-Holsteiners that they could not succeed in gunng a single inch of ground. After this attack on both wings had continued for two or three hours, the Danes made an onslaught on the centre along the Chausee, in the direction of Flensburg, with infantry, cavalry and artillery, at the same time. The Schleswig-Holstein light infantry retired behind the main positions near Istedt, where the advancing Dines were received with a shower of balls from the firtifications thrown up there, comfrom rushed to the centre, and with such viview that the Danes were soon obliged to retreat en masse into the poplar wood. This minicovre was twice repeated, and twice was cormon position on the right wing and centre attacked by the Dance. On the left wing a mere skirmish fire was only carried on. The battle had, by this time, continued for nearly eghtheurs; and between ten and eleven o'clock emed certain that the result could not be afterwise than favorable to us. But just at this read it became apparent that the Danes had e needtrated their whole force for a main attack near centre and right wing. From the emiwiele Danish infantry debouch from the poplar weed and form line directly opposite the Schlesweg-Holstein force, bringing up at the same time several new batteries of field artillery. I could also distinctly see the fatigued and wornout troops relieved by fresh battalions. General Willisen also caused his reserve batteries to be troight forward as well as the cavalry, which hid, as yet, been but partially engaged; and about eleven o'clock a most fearful cannonade commenced on both sides, which was kept up on the part of the Schleswig-Holsteiners with great distinacy for two hours and a half, although the nemy's guns were larger and more numerous. Individual instances of courage were shown that would appear almost incredible. A small by tery of 12-pounders charged right into the the test of the enemy's fire, posted itself at half estince, and greeted the Danes with repeated discharges from the battery. It was, however, soon obliged to retire, in order to avoid a charge of cavairy. The most determined courage of the ele army was, however, of no avail against the superior force the Danes at this time brought into action. They were also deficient in ammunition. About two o'clock the Danes made another attack, but being myself at this time obliged to withdraw. I was no longer an eye ent confusion, and in good order, covered by eral battations under the command of Colonel V nu der Tann. The Danes appear to have

Cease Wranging. For some time past there has been a quadrangural battle ranging between the Keystone, and the papers that support General Cameron, and between the Keystone and the Pennsylvanian and Bedford Gazette, in which the various parties to this contest, Messrs. Miller, Boyer, Masser, Williams, Forney, Bowman, and some others, belabor each other in such manner as to throw the Whigs into perfect ecstaties of de-

Now we submit whether this bitter persona controversy is not highly injurious to the Democratic party of the State? The the details of it are disgusting to all who have not a taste for this kind of controversy. Our political friends full away from us, and our enemies trumpet the alledged malpractices and corruptions of the party, and cite our own press in support of their slanders. Can this prove anything else than highly detrimental in the coming contest? Both the State and National governments are in the witness of what occurred. Soon after, however, hands of the Whigs, which arrays against us manyidual soldiers were seen running along the Chausee in the direction of Schleswig, followed a time dissention should cease; personal grievson after by larger masses, spreading the ances and prejudices should be hushed, and appropriate news that the Danes bad broken every Democrat should exert himself to unite the the agh our centre.
