JACK N. BARDE

In our busy, strenuous life; in our mad rush for wealth and position; in this age of jazz and flattery, it is the exception rather than the rule to meet a man, who, altho having both wealth and position, is really a man—an efficient man—and truly a "fellow-citizen".

Mr. Barde has lived in Portland for thirty-five years and this is the first time he has asked the voters—his fellow citizens—for any public office. It is only another sign of his unselfish spirit, for if we look over the records of those who have sought and who are seeking public office, we will see that some of them are doing it for selfish motives only.

As Chairman of the directors of the Old Age Pension League and as having assisted in the preparation of the measure initiated by the League providing for old age pensions, Mr. Barde is in position to wield great influence towards the successful completion of this humanitarian effort—an effort to preserve the thing for which we Americans have shed much blood upon the battlefields—INDEPENDENCE. This the old people in this state do not have under the present system. Also Mr. Barde is intensely interested in the Children's Farm Home at Corvallis, Oregon for the care, maintenance and protection of the orphans of the state of all races, colors and religions.

Mr. Barde is too big to be confined to any one race, but he loves and labors with, and for the people of all races. This fact is no more clearly demonstrated than through the program he advocates, on which he has spent a considerable amount of money for the information of the people of the state, and for which he is seeking our support.

It is gratifying to see such fine type men as Mr. Barde, enter politics. It will only be through the injection of new blood and the refining process of selflessness and unselfishness instituted by such men that our government will attain to the desired standard. —And one other thing so vitally important to successful government:—ABILITY to succeed. This also Mr. Barde has demonstrated through his own business, having climbed from the lowest rung of the ladder to its top-most one.

One cannot help but think of Kipling's "IF" when they meet Mr. Barde, for he so accurately conforms to the advice given in that inimitable poem: "and, which is more, you'll be a MAN my son." That day has arrived in the life of Jack Barde.

PATTERSON IS THE MAN FOR GOVERNOR

The editor of The Advocate will espouse the cause of I. L. Patterson for Governor of Oregon for the simple reason that we sincerely believe him to be big enough in every way for that responsible office.

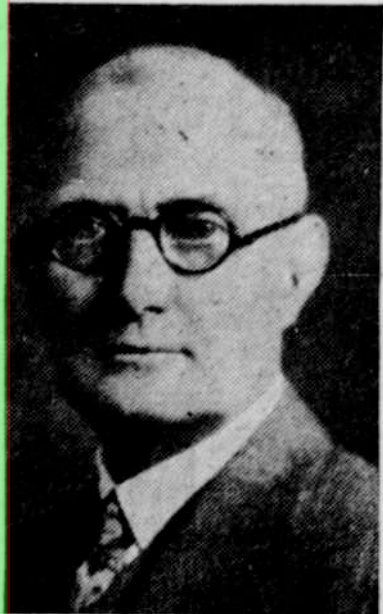

His character is without blemish; his position known on public questions and he does not dodge or attempt deception. He is not promoting false issues, but aspires to be the governor of all the people and not a party boss.

His campaign has been constructive and not destructive; he is advocating worthwhile and necessary measures and not stooping to throw mud:

Business methods in state affairs; practical and honest men appointed to positions in state affairs; a revision of our tax laws; fewer state jobs and fewer departments; the development of our farms and live stock interests; protection of our industrial workers.

Patterson is the man for governor. Vote for him.

RESEARCH! THEN WHAT?

Aside from the fact that one race might survive and flourish in a hotter or colder a more dry or more wet climate than another, but little information has been gathered to show that, under given conditions, one group would, in a long period of years develop any differently than another.

Theory after theory has been exploded or quashed; group after group has attempted to establish supremacy; but, as yet, no one has proved that it was not right to love one's neighbor as oneself or to do unto others as one would have them do unto himself. Neither has any zealous prophet had the temerity to declare that Heaven will be conveniently adapted to meet the theories of the varieties of human groups of this era of science.

Research! Then what? Shall it develop an inharmonious destructive of Love and Justice? Or will the oligists some day agree that God made man in His own image, and that this man was a creature of Charity, Fidelity, Love and Service, regardless of what the sun, the moon, the mountains and the deserts might do to him and his successors during a billion or so years.

MULKEY FOR CONGRESS

B. F. Mulkey Candidate for the Republican nomination for Representative in Congress made a very fine impression upon his hearers when on Monday he addressed an audience of colored voters at First A. M. E. Zion church. Mr. Mulkey stressed the usage of Christian principles in attempting to solve the many complex problems which confront humanity today.

He advocated stricter law enforcement and the application of business principles more carefully watched in government affairs. He stands for strict economy and many progressive principles. He showed great force of character. His high ideals and strong principles along with his sincerity can be traced, no doubt, in a large measure to his wholesome connections of long standing with the Christian church. He is not only a member of the First church but is active in all its affairs, teaching a very large Sunday School Class and exerts a fine influence for good in the community. While Mr. Mulkey is an old line Republican, he is progressive and constructive. Colored voters will no doubt vote for Mr. Mulkey. His endorsement by the N.A.A.C.P. was commendable and The Advocate endorses the N.A.A.C.P.'s endorsement.

L. D. Mahone who is in the race for State Representative delivered a series of lectures recently at Clark University and other prominent Negro Universities on the Industrial Situation and opportunities for colored workers. He is also Secretary of the Laymen's Association of the M. E. Church and Chr. of Speakers' Bureau of that church.

MISS O'BRYON MAKES SPLENDID TALK

Miss Lida M. O'Bryon spoke on Monday evening to colored voters at Zion church. She was well received by Miss O'Bryon who is making the race for Judge of the Court of Domestic Relations urged the voters to think of the welfare of the children when casting their ballots Friday.

LOYAL TO PALS

John B. McCourt is a candidate for the Republican nomination for the Legislature. As a former sailor on the Shipping Board vessel Hannawa, McCourt was loyal to his pals. When the Board refused to let his ex-mate, O'Sullivan, sign for another voyage, he quit with other members of the crew who were loyal to "Sully".

His heritage and training make for loyalty. His father was the late John McCourt, Justice of the Supreme Court of Oregon. He was born in Salem and raised in the State of Oregon. He attended the Portland public schools, and afterward the University of Oregon and the law school at Willamette University. He is now practicing in Oregon and is a member of the firm of Crandall & McCourt, Platt Building, Portland. He has lived in Portland for eighteen years.

HOTEL NOTES

Three officials of the Portland were given the gate this week by order of the big boss in the persons of: Headwaiter Lang, Captains John Moyer and J. Barney. As the result, the predominant Mr. Ike is again the headwaiter.

Barney, who formerly performed as a captain at The Portland, dropped in Sunday to work a day or so for John Moyer but as soon as he was spied by the boss his dark deeds were remembered and he was told to beat it.

J. W. Fayne who worked at The Portland a long time ago, and since then at the Concordia Club, has resigned and may get on at The Portland.

William Deiz, former private waiter at The Portland and now a dining car waiter, was a visitor at The Portland Wednesday.

Mico Harjo, former employed at the City Comfort Stations, is now a dining car waiter with head-quarters in Oakland, Cal.

John Moyer, Captain at The Portland is able to get along with a cane after his "Lizzie" had trampled upon his feet.

The newspapers report that an 11 story Portland Hotel will be built next year to take the place of the present hotel.

LOUIS KEUHN

One of the most unique individuals running for office is Louis Keuhn who is asking the voters to send him back to the State Legislature as Representative from the 18th District. Mr. Keuhn served faithfully and well in the House during the sessions of 1915 and 1923.

His experience gained in operating his own business successfully, stood him well in helping to make laws for his state.

Mr. Keuhn believes in education, both mental and physical. He has three children, two sons and a daughter, all of whom have graduated at O. A. C., Corvallis, Oregon. His daughter is employed by the Portland Public School Board; his eldest son is foreman of his Automotive Parts business on East Oregon St., and the youngest, "Happy" Keuhn as he is often fondly called by his friends won the World championship in the Olympic Games in fancy diving at Antwerp, Belgium in 1920. The past two or three years "Happy" has been the swimming and diving instructor at O. A. C.

Mr. Keuhn has lived in Oregon for 40 years and has worked hard, coming from the ground up to his present status as a successful business man. Mr. Keuhn says: "I am not a lawyer but I help build Oregon." Friends urged him to make the race for the reason they thought it just as essential to have business men in the law making body as it is to have lawyers.

Mr. Keuhn has a wide acquaintance among colored voters who will support him at the polls Friday.

Stay off June 19th State Federation of Womens clubs will give particulars later.

Mr. Louis Gregory who is to address several gatherings in the city during next week is a native of Washington, D. C. where for some time he was in the practice of law, and also employed by the United States Government for several years.

WINS SWEET CASE

Continued from page one only four hours of deliberation, there was surprise and apprehension. When the verdict of "Not Guilty" was rendered waiting women sobbed audibly and tears ran down the cheeks of men. It is more than probable that no other cases will be tried. Thus ends one of the most vital fights ever waged for the race.

The first trial of the Sweet case resulted in a jury disagreement. In this second trial it was arranged to have each one of the eleven defendants tried separately. Hen. Sweet was selected by the prosecution to stand trial first as the case against him was tho't to be strongest. In view of his acquittal, it is likely the State will not try any of the other defendants.

The Sweet Case establishes the Negro's right to defend his life and home from riotous mobs having segregation as their objective. It is estimated that the two trials cost nearly $40,000.

A MODERN "PORTIA" SEEKS OFFICE

Dorothy McCullough Lee, a Portland attorney is in the race for a seat in the State Legislature. She is a self-made woman, having worked her way through school. She is a member of several prominent local clubs and of the Multnomah Bar Association. Mrs.

Lee stands well with the members of her profession and with all those who know her.

In her statement to the people she says: "I will favor only such constructive legislation as will tend to develop the natural resources of our State and promote the general educational and social welfare."

"I will support measures that offer a practical solution and an equitable readjustment of the tax problem."

Her slogan is: "Earnest effort for sensible legislation."
