Baha'is Celebrate U.N. Day With Dessert Party

The Chicago Defender (National edition) (1921-1967); Oct 31, 1964;

ProQuest Historical Newspapers: Chicago Defender

THEY WERE ALL THERE

Mrs. Beth McKenty of the national office of the Baha'l Faith in the United States, visits with guests during a U.N. International Desert Party. A combined effort of many groups in the North Shore area, the affair attracted guests from a number of foreign countries as well as from this area. Nine different deserts were served from tables decorated with U.N. Flags and candles.

Baha'is Celebrate U.N. Day With Dessert Party

Films showing the plight of aware of their privation comtwo-thirds of the world's popu- pared with their more fortulation who never have enough nate neighbors," commented to eat and suffer from a vari- Dr. Ruhe. ety of illnesses were shown at "One out of every three peoa United Nations meeting held ple has an adequate supply of recently in the Baha'i House clean water," he added, "while of Worship, Wilmette.

tions participated in the meet contaminated water supplies." ing. Members of the Baha'i Dr. Ruhe recalled Ghandi's Faith which stresses the con- statement that two-thirds of cept of the oneness of man the world's people are on an kind, served international des. "eternal, compulsory fast." He serts from long tables centered urged that those attending the with U.N. flags and candles, meeting take a greater interfollowing the conclusion of the est in the work of the United program.

Dr. David Ruhe, chairman of the meeting and national secretary of the Baha'is of the United States, reviewed the accomplishments of the United Nations during its 19 years. Citing the Economic and Social Council of the United Naions as a vital area of U.N. functioning, Dr. Ruhe declared that under its auspices a campaign against the greatest killer of all time, malaria, has been so successful that it is expected to be almost eradicated in the next decade.

"There is, unfortunately, a widening gap between the twothirds of the world's people who suffer from malnutrition, and the one-third who are comparatively well-fed. Depressed people, for the first time in history, are really the other two suffer thirst and Many North Shore organiza. illness from inadequate and > Nations and support its humanitarian programs.

Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner. Further reproduction prohibited without permission.