News of her Son reached Fátimih Bagum only sporadically. When He was executed in Tabríz in 1850, the family kept the news from her for more than a year. The grief of the news and the hostility of friends and some family members finally caused her to move to Karbalá in December 1851.

Up to this time, Fátimih Bagum was not a Bábí. Mírzá Habíbu'lláh reports Bahá'u'lláh's stating that Mírzá Yahyá Azal's action in marrying the Báb's second wife drove Fátimih Bagum away from accepting the Faith. While Bahá'u'lláh was in Baghdad, He arranged for the wife of Hájí 'Abdu'l-Majíd and for Hájí Siyyid Javád Karbalá'í, an old friend of Fátimih Bagum's family, to speak to her about the Faith. Bahá'u'lláh refers to her as Khayru'n-Nisa [the best of women] and forbids all others, except Khadíjih Bagum, from adopting this title.

The following family trees each show the reported children, parents, grandparents and great-grandparents of a family group. In order to reduce redundancy, any family group which is wholly included within another family tree may not be reported separately.

Above each of the great-grandparent boxes (top row), a continuation family tree reference number in angle brackets is shown if the great-grandparent is recorded as a child in the continuation tree. A continuation reference number is also shown to the left of a grandparent or parent box if that individual has siblings reported in the continuation tree; and beneath a child box (bottom row) if that individual has children reported in the continuation tree.

In cases of multiple marriages, a continuation reference number preceded by "=" is shown to the right of a parent box. This number references the previous and/or next tree in which that individual is shown with another partner.
